MISSION

The Airway Revolution Foundation is dedicated to transforming how upper airway disorders are understood and treated. Through powerful storytelling in our documentary series, community health literacy programs, and a dynamic grassroots movement, we will raise awareness and amplify patient voices to inspire action.

Our mission is to inspire greater awareness and education among the public and existing healthcare professionals, including physicians, dentists, and allied health practitioners. We aim to drive systemic change in medical and dental education, increase research funding for upper airway disorders, and improve the quality and accessibility of care for everyone.

Vision

We envision a future where airway health is a cornerstone of healthcare, guided by three pillars:

Raising Awareness

Through our documentary series Breathless, community health literacy programs, and a growing grassroots movement, we will attract needed focus, support learning, and provide hope on the often ignored or misunderstood epidemic of airway disorders. In this manner, we will empower individuals and inspire change.

Revolutionizing Education

Educating and leading a grassroots advocacy campaign of and for lay people, and future doctors in order to create necessary curricula change in medical and dental school education. This new curriculum will ensure proper airway healthcare education for our future doctors and allied health professionals such that they are trained to diagnose and treat airway disorders and provide a greatly improved standard of care.

Enhancing Patient Care

Elevating the access to, and quality of airway healthcare to improve lives globally.

Filming Breathless

In 2024, The Airway Revolution Foundation reached a significant milestone with the completion of Breathless, a powerful three-part documentary series. This project began with a mission to give voice to the untold stories of those affected by airway disorders, shedding light on their struggles and triumphs. The film stands on its own as an important testament to these experiences. Once released, it will raise awareness and inspire action, creating opportunities for the foundation to amplify its efforts and drive meaningful change in healthcare.

The Hidden Epidemic

Airway disorders are an epidemic, conservatively affecting 1 in 3 people worldwide. Despite this staggering prevalence, these conditions often go undiagnosed and misunderstood, and result in countless individuals struggling in silence. Breathless brings this seemingly invisible issue into the spotlight, and uncovers the far-reaching impact of airway disorders on physical, mental, and emotional well-being.

From One Story to Many

What began as the deeply personal journey of our Executive Director, Sydney Avis, has evolved into a larger narrative.

Breathless follows the lives of many others—children and adults from diverse backgrounds—whose symptoms may look different, whose treatments may vary, but who all share the same invisible battle. From chronic fatigue to chronic health diseases, learning and emotional challenges to mental health struggles, their stories reveal the silent suffering of millions and the profound transformations possible.

"This isn't about one person's journey anymore- it's now the story of how a billion people are affected worldwide. People like you and me."
- Ed Wiseman, Director

A Catalyst for Change

The heart of Breathless lies in sharing the compelling stories of patients and the insights of experts, all driven by a shared desire for change. While the series focuses on illuminating these experiences, the foundation will use it as a powerful tool to amplify the urgency for change—transforming the awareness it creates into meaningful action to improve education, care, and understanding.

- Raising Awareness: Breathless spotlights the hidden epidemic of airway disorders by sharing powerful patient stories and expert insights, informing viewers about the prevalence and impact of these conditions.
- Inspiring Action: The foundation leverages the film's stories and insights to rally individuals to support a movement for change—transforming education in medical and dental fields and advocating for improved access to care.
- Driving Systemic Change: By amplifying the voices in Breathless, the foundation aims to influence legislation, advance research, and reshape the airway healthcare landscape for a better future.

"We discovered that airway disorders aren't just a medical issue- they're a public health crisis" says producer Orly Wiseman. "We interviewed many health professionals who urge change and public awareness."

A Movement Built on Stories

With filming complete, Breathless is now in post-production, and targeted for release in 2025. The series is designed to resonate with diverse audiences by showcasing relatable struggles, real solutions, and the urgent need for early intervention.

- Patient Narratives: From children experiencing developmental delays to adults finding relief after years of misdiagnosis.

- Expert Insights: Groundbreaking advancements in diagnosis and treatment, and calls to integrate airway health into standard medical and dental curricula.

- A Shared Purpose: The belief that no one should have to suffer unknowingly or navigate this journey alone.

What's Next?

The release of Breathless will mark the beginning of a new chapter for The Airway Revolution Foundation. By leveraging the series as a tool for education, advocacy, and inspiration, we aim to:

- Mobilize communities to join the grassroots movement for better education and care.
- Advocate for inclusion of airway health in medical and dental education.
- Support the need for research and innovative treatments.

As the series debuts on a major distribution platform, it will serve as a rallying cry for change, uniting individuals and organizations to reimagine the future of airway health.

The fight to breathe freely and sleep restfully is far from over. Together, we can shine a light on this hidden epidemic and create a world where we value and enhance breathing and reparative sleep.
